

Last week, twenty counsellors from independent schools in the Metro Toronto area came together to learn about benefits of International ACAC and celebrate its 25th birthday. During lunch we discussed alternatives platforms to Naviance, summer school credit recognition, and discipline reporting policies. During the formal presentation portion of the event, we learned about university admission systems in Australia, Germany and Hong Kong. In a follow-up communication, we also learned that Canadian ACT test centres are considered National Testing Sites (rather than international) so the changes and move to online computer based testing do not apply to us (surprise)!
