Keynote Speaker

Dan Golden, Director

Filene Center for Work and Learning, Wheaton College

Dan Golden, the keynote speaker, will address the conference on the topic: "Structure and Fragmentation in the Lives of Students." Dan says that he is struck by the strange combination of structure and fragmentation in student experience and how isolated classroom education is from the life and learning agendas of so many students.

Dan is the founding Director of the Filene Center for Work and Learning at Wheaton College. The Filene Center is Wheaton's life planning and experiential learning locus and oversees an institutional portfolio based reflective learning process that yields up a "Second Transcript" for all students, the Wheaton Work and Public Service Record.

Dan Golden has been a consultant and program reviewer for schools and colleges on reflective learning design and serves as an assessor for the U.S. Department of Education on innovative education and service-learning projects. He holds a B.A. from Queen's College and an M.A., Ph.D. from Indiana University/Bloomington.

Dr. Robert Pennington

College of Business,

University of Central Florida

Dr. Pennington will speak on the unique cornerstone program at UCF

William McClintick,

Chair, Admissions Practices Committee, NACAC

Bill McClintick will facilitate a session on Admission Practices as it applies to students in the Overseas Region. This will be followed by small group discussions and the formulation of a recommendations for the fall conference. Some of the topics we hope to cover during this session will cover:

Categories of Student Citizenship

Communications

Admissions Requirements

Collecting and Reporting

Financial Concerns

Ron Koger,

President, NACAC

Ron Koger, NACAC's official representative at the conference will facilitate a session on consensus building which should help us to work together in the future in this organization.
