

Novel Coronavirus Covid-19 Statement

Cambridge Assessment English is monitoring the situation with the spread of Novel Coronavirus very closely. Our top priority is to ensure the health and safety of candidates and their families, and of the staff in our centres. We will do everything we can to minimise disruption for candidates, parents and teachers, while complying fully with international best practice and the advice of national and local healthcare authorities.

All Cambridge Assessment English examinations and tests in China are currently suspended until at least the end of March. Examinations and tests in other regions are running as normal, except where local authorities have instructed otherwise. There may be additional measures in place to help ensure the health and safety of candidates and test centre staff. Authorised examination centres will inform candidates if there are any changes to the arrangements for their tests. National authorities and Cambridge English centres will inform candidates and parents of arrangements for alternative test dates or refunds.

Many learners will take B2 First, C1 Advanced and C2 Proficiency exams in schools, therefore international students applying to your institution may already have a Cambridge English exam certificate. We encourage you to accept these qualifications and make sure they are included in your language proficiency requirements.
